

Cardiff OPENING

Our Cardiff store opened its doors officially on the 9th and 10th May to coincide with the launch of the Ducati Streetfighter and the BMW F 800 R.

Fortunately the great British weather was kind to us with beautiful dry days on both the Saturday and the Sunday. Our BBQ proved very popular with all (we sold out of burgers completely) as well as the DynoJet rolling road. Over the weekend we estimate over 1000 motorcyclists took the opportunity to look round our new store with many being brand new customers to Riders.

If you haven't already taken a drive over the bridge why not pop in and say hello.

MESSAGE from Riders

Welcome to the summer and the biking season. At the time of press the weather has been scorching and the phones at Riders have been equally as hot, we've not even had time for ice creams. It hardly seems believable that the longest day of the year has already been and gone but forecasters are still promising the best summer in years, so enjoy the warmth while it's here.

Up for Rent

Hiring a bike can make a great gift (never be stuck for fathers' day or an anniversary again!) or a way to celebrate, we've had grooms pulling up outside the church and couples arriving at engagement parties on one of our bikes.

Hiring is also popular with those who don't have time to ride or own a bike full time but would like to holiday on two wheels and those that just want to escape on their own for a while.

For more info on our Harley and BMW Hire scheme please check out pages 5 and 7 or visit our website.

More than 1,000 Harley-Davidson™ motorcycle enthusiasts gathered at Weston-Super-Mare to celebrate the annual Bridgwater Chapter Cider Rally 2009 in early May.

While the attendance at many other events are down in 2009 the rally was fully booked at pre-registration.

Saturday saw the Grand Parade leave site for a tour of Weston-Super-Mare ending up with a static display on the beach lawns to meet and greet the public. This was met with much enthusiasm from the locals. Other highlights included the evening's entertainment with plenty of cider (obviously) a raffle and auction, which raised £700 for Sarah's Appeal in aid of breast cancer.

Through out the week-end the Riders trade stand was very busy, the sun shone and a good time was had by one and all.

AT THE DENTIST

The limited edition Airwaves GSE Ducati replica was produced in 2006 based on the 999 and 749.

Riders of Bristol's customer Mike Gregory is the proud new owner of a Ducati 999 Airwaves bought pre owned from Riders. We were pleased to hear that he will be keeping it close to hand when he's at work. As Mike is a dentist his Ducati will be taking pride of place in his waiting room - we think that's a lot more interesting than a fish tank!

To find out more about Mike's practice visit www.mgdentalcare.co.uk

HYPERMOTARD TURNS MOTO-TERMINATOR

Ducati is proud to be part of the highly anticipated action film 'Terminator Salvation'. The popular Hypermotard 1100 takes part in scenes that sees them take new form as Moto-Terminators.

'This movie is all about technology taken to such a high level that it becomes an art form,' said 'Terminator Salvation' director McG. 'To me that fits as a description of Ducati. The bikes came through like champions.' McG was so fond of the Hypermotard he actually purchased one of the four bikes used on the New Mexico set.

Computer graphics were used to create the Moto-Terminators based on the design and performance of the Hypermotard, however the actual bikes were used for all the stunt riding in the film, check out our website for the behind the scenes footage.

TERMINATOR SALVATION

DUCATI IN BRECON

The torrential rain the previous day didn't put too much of a damper on the Ducati Demo Show vehicle visiting the beautiful countryside of the Brecon Beacons in early June and despite the forewarned horrendous weather, the afternoon was dry.

Riders customers and passers by enjoyed 40 minute test ride sessions on one of seven demonstration bikes including a 1198S, 848, Hypermotard, Monster 1100, Monster 696, Classic GT, and Multistrada.

The test route of approximately 25 miles took riders up winding single carriageway and throttle opening dual carriageway with stunning scenery all the way. The rides were led by Badger who is head of the California Superbike School, the school has trained riders for over 30 years. (Badger is so called as after a bike accident he lost all pigment in one eyebrow!)

Despite the sometimes damp road conditions everyone stayed on two wheels and relished the opportunity to ride the bikes on these challenging roads, we look forward to doing the event next year.

BUONGIORNO BRISTOL

Riders had a taste of Italy in April in Bristol, when the old city streets were filled with an eclectic mix of Italian cars and bikes, ranging from the humble Vespa and cute Fiat 500 to the super powered Ferrari and Desmosedici.

Organised by local members of the Ducati Owners Club and the Italian Auto Moto Clubs and now in its seventh year, the Festival is the best free event for Italian vehicle enthusiasts in the UK.

This year Moto Guzzi was the featured motorcycle Marque.

A large range of bikes was parked adjacent to the Riders trailer, we were kept busy handing out posters to the youngsters (we like getting them hooked at a young age! - Ed). We also sold a range of Ducati accessories including baseball hats which proved popular later in the afternoon when the heavens opened. The event was as popular as ever and the 'start your engines' sessions had some unsuspecting folk jumping for cover.

TEST RIDE REPORT

BMW

F 800 R

- NEW SYSTEM 6

General Sales Manger Kevin Baddeley give us his views on the BMW F 800 R

The F 800 R fits into BMW's Urban category, alongside bikes like the R 1200 R and K 1300 R, but unlike those models, the F 800 R runs a parallel twin. The bike has been designed over two years to take on this competitive class. Despite being an 800, the engine produces masses of torque and on the road that translates into smoother drive and a less manic ride. The engine pulls from as low as two-thousand revs and even if you're tickling along in top gear at 40mph, it'll pull surprisingly hard, without being laboured. On my ride, after 80 miles the fuel gauge wasn't even at half full.

The gearing is spot on for this bike and the kind of riding it's designed for. The front end uses conventional forks, the ride is firm, on par with a Triumph Street Triple, and with the Bridgestone BT014 tyres fitted the feel and feedback was extremely positive

The display gives you everything you need. It's part analogue, part digital, with an analogue speedo and rev counter but digital readouts including gear, trip distance, tank range and outside temperature. I rode through rain, down country lanes, through town and the ABS adds an extra degree of confidence. While the riding position is upright, it allows you to have a very dominant riding style, which I prefer.

BMW purists will hate the fact it hasn't got shaft drive and a single-sided swing-arm and no tele-lever front end but for those new to the BMW way of life, that won't matter. At £5,925 OTR.

- Two-tone seat
- Protective aluminium cylinder head covers
- Premium Pack (TPC, ABS, ASC)
- Dynamic Pack (Chrome Exhaust Pipe, ESA, Heated Grips, OBC, LED Indicators)

The GS SE will offer customers excellent value for money at an on the road price of £11,250 - which, combined with the complimentary pannier offer provides a saving of over £1250.

This model will be available in limited numbers only so be quick before you miss out on this great opportunity.

S 1000 RR

BMW Motorrad's highly-anticipated new entrant in the supersport motorcycle sector made its debut in early May at the Monza Italy round of the World Superbike Championship. Europe's largest motorcycle manufacturer unveiled its new S 1000 RR model, the production version of its World Superbike racer.

"a new benchmark in terms of riding dynamics"

After several years of planning, design and development, BMW Motorrad has reached a new level in the world of sports machinery with the S 1000 RR. The power-to-weight ratio, along with optional Race ABS and DTC Dynamic Traction Control technologies, have all contributed to attaining a new benchmark in terms of riding dynamics, safety and innovation. The new bike makes a whopping 193bhp and will feature four-stage ABS and race-derived traction control.

The S 1000 RR is not due to go on sale until the end of the year. Prices are yet to be confirmed but it will be competitive. It will be available in three colours - black, white or metallic lime green.

SPECIAL EDITION

R 1200

GS SE

This limited edition version of the R 1200 GS celebrates the 15th year anniversary of the new 4-valve engine.

- Striking Alpine White paint work
- Black cross spoke wheels
- Tinted windscreen

This helmet has seen numerous innovations over the years, being the consistent continuation of the highly successful BMW Motorrad folding helmet which dates back to 1981.

It's fitted with a double visor and - for the first time - an integrated sun shield, too. This can be conveniently adjusted to continuously variable levels using a slider at the left-hand edge of the helmet. By means of an ingenious four-jointed mechanism, the folding chin section moves in an elliptical path and is thus closer to the helmet shell giving it also an attractive look when it's open.

The matching multi-section inner shell in expanded polystyrol (EPS) is foam padded in various thicknesses. This technology allows the best possible impact absorption to be achieved. The System 6 helmet weighs between 1,570 and 1,670 grams, making the new model 150 or 50 grams lighter than its predecessor in spite of the new components 'double visor' and 'integrated sun shield'.

With a noise level of just 86 dB(A) at 100 km/h, the System 6 helmet is one of the quietest folding helmets on the market. The entire inner lining can be removed for washing along with the neck and cheek pads available in various sizes.

MEN IN UNIFORM

The Café at Riders Motorcycles in Cardiff was visited not by men in leathers, but men in uniform who arrived on a somewhat larger form of transport.

The false alarm attended by the South Wales Fire Service was triggered by a panini machine. Café chef Josie explained 'It was my special home made lasagne for lunch so I was going to make some garlic bread to go with it. I had just turned on the machine, there was a bit of smoke but nothing dramatic and then the alarms all started sounding.

Once the Fire Service had given the all clear they couldn't resist trying some of the bikes for size.

We welcome the lads from the Fire Brigade back to try out our bikes anytime, just no need to bring the fire engine next time though!

WARNING TRIANGLE FOR BIKERS

Save yourself a potentially painful fine when you head across the channel this summer, now available is an European Warning Triangle designed for bikers by bikers. The warning triangle is compulsory in many EU countries and is recommended in all. The triangle complies fully with European legislation, is highly visible both day and night and compact. It's easily stored in the smallest of space when packed flat and once unfolded your helmet sits inside the pyramid and acts as ballast.

The retail price of £19.90 we think is a worthy investment to avoid an on the spot penalty (in France this can be as high as 130 euros) and ensure you comply with local laws.

News from Riders...

JOINING US...

Welcome to our newest members of the Riders team in Bristol and Bridgwater.

Taunton born and now living in Bridgwater 25 year old Technician Mike Cook joined the Bridgwater team on the 9th March. Things have now got a lot more hectic for Mike, for as well as the workshop working at its peak rate he's also just become a Dad. Baby Colby was born on the 8th June at 01.40 - many congratulations Mike.

Mike has worked in the trade for many years. Before joining us at Riders he has worked for Branson Honda as a technician and also V&J where he completed his apprenticeship with Bristol City College.

A bike fan for many years with a CBR600 as his first purchase Mike is also really into his cars in his spare time, owning a Mitsubishi Evo and aspirations to upgrade to a Nissan Skyline. A VW Bora is his more family orientated everyday car but Mike assures us the baby seat does fit in the Evo (they tested it outside Mothercare!)

Mike says "I can see myself at Riders for a long time, it's pretty good here. As I work on bikes all day so I do prefer to play with cars in the evening, but if I win the lottery a Fireblade would definitely be one of my first treats".

30 years young, Somerset lad Matt Knight joined Riders of Bristol on the 1st April (no fools on us!) as another addition to our hardworking sales team. Matt was born in Bristol then lived in Yatton and Clevedon he has recently moved to Weston Super Mare.

Arty Matt completed a BTEC in Interior and Architectural design after school but started working in sales and has stayed in this area ever since. Before joining Riders Matt was working for Tiley Bristol a Subaru dealer and before that, Bristol Nissan, his mate at Bristol Kawasaki heard about the job at Riders and the rest they say is history.

With a baby on the way in August Matt may have to postpone his dream of riding Route 66 on a Harley-Davidson as partner Debbie of 10 years may not approve. This wouldn't be his first road trip though as he's previously travelled across Canada in a Ford Mustang V8.

Matt says "Bikes are such really nice products to be selling and something you can enjoy, I passed my bike test in 2005 so I still get excited about them everyday."
